Reflection

Bread too, like us, has its birth in violence.

The seed that fell into the ground, died, and came forth as wheat is now ground into new form and flour is sifted and changed into loaves for rising. We break this bread with reverence and give it to eachother for eating just as another person once broke those loaves with us and asked us not to forget. We haven't.

If there is any command we have been religiously obedient to it is this command of not forgetting.

Do this in my memory! Do it again and again.

Jesus we have....

We have broken bread with tears in our eyes and we've broken it when we felt nothing, but we've broken it when we felt nothing, but we have broken it just as you asked us to do. We are still trying to understand what it means. But we haven't forgotten.

And the wine? It too is born out of pain. After days of ripening, the grapes are crushed and squeezed into unfamiliar form waiting in barrels and vats and finally, bottles to be accepted, loved, believed in.

And this wine also we drink carefully with more reverence than usual. It is in honour of that same person the One who asked us not to forget.

And we haven't!

O God, if there's anything we've been faithful to, its this not forgetting request. In big churches, in small crowds with friends, with strangers we meet, we break the bread, we share the cup. And something happens not only to the bread and wine, but to us.

It is especially to remind each other not to forget that we meet. It is especially to celebrate the life that comes out of so much death.

Bread born out of brokenness!

Wine, born out of being crushed!

We are still trying to understand what it really means.

We are trying to recognize you, Lord, in the breaking and the sharing. But we haven't forgotten!

TAKE, BLESS, BREAK AND GIVE

In the Eucharist bread is taken, blessed, broken and given.

In life we are taken, blessed, broken and given.

The priest takes the bread in his hands and blesses it during the eucharistic prayer; then he breaks it and it is given to us as the Body of Christ.

Through our birth and baptism we are taken into God's hands; as the bread is taken, so too are we.

We are broken by failure, sin, pain and heartbreak; as the bread is broken, so too are we.

In death we are given back to the mystery from which we came; as the bread is given, so too are we.

When we take, bless, break and give bread to one another, we believe the Lord to be especially present in our midst. But we must learn to accept that in his memory we will be taken, blessed, broken and given for the life of the world.
