I Confess...

The translation of the Confiteor that will appear in the new edition of the Missal will have a few changes to what we have been saying since 1975. The most obvious change will be the use of the words "through my fault, through my fault, through my most grievous fault". This was already retained in the Irish language translation of this prayer. The use of triplets is often employed in Latin and this was not always translated in the texts we currently use. A word not translated in the current Missal is now translated as "greatly" giving us the new phrase "that I have greatly sinned". This has its biblical roots in the words of David in 1 Chronicles 21:8. "David said to God, 'I have sinned greatly in that I have done this thing...'"

Gloria

The new translation of this text is a good example of a very close following of the Latin. In the opening lines we hear the words of the Angles' song over the shepards' field from Luke 2:14 which speaks of on earth peace to people of goodwill. Then five verbs as we stand before God in awe and thanksgiving, addressing God the Father: We praise you, we bless you, we adore you, we glorify you, we give you thanks.. . This new translation closely follows the Latin rather than the shortened version that appears in our current Missal. In the next section we address God the Son under five titles: Lord Jesus Christ, Only begotten Son, Lord God, Lamb of God, Son of the Father. Very familiar, except perhaps for Only Begotton, which translated the Latin unigenitum. The phrase "sins of the world" is in the Gloria twice; it is also in the Agnes Dei (Lamb of God) three times and in the invitation to Holy Communion. In all six places the Latin has the plural as does the new English translation. Prepared by the National Centre for Liturgy.

Irish church appeal rebuilding lives in Pakistan

One year ago, the church in Ireland launched a nationwide appeal to raise money for the 20 million people in Pakistan affected by flooding. The appeal was in response to the worst crisis to have ever hit Pakistan. The people of Ireland opened their hearts to the flooding victims, with the church appeal raising a total of €5,020,123. The Diocese of Killaloe made a significant contribution, donating €166,885.56. Trócaire used your donations to achieve stunning successes in Pakistan:

- 20,000 people rescued from flood-affected areas;
- 135,000 people supplied with tents, food and other essential items;
- 4,000 children given access to education and recreation through our Child Friendly Spaces; One year on, the focus is now on rebuilding communities. Over the next twelve months, 126,000 people will benefit from Irish donations used to help rebuild lives torn apart by the floods. Trócaire's focus is on helping people to begin farming and fishing again, through the rehabilitation of farming land and reconstruction of irrigation infrastructure. As well as distributing agricultural inputs, such as seeds and fertiliser, and repairing fishing boats, Trócaire is also rebuilding community infrastructure, including water pumps and walkways. Your donations made a real difference to the lives of some of Pakistan's poorest people. Thank you for your help.
